ROADWORKS UPDATE

South Western Highway Intersection Upgrades - Armadale

Traffic Signal Installation Update

Main Roads has been undertaking intersections upgrades, including road widening on South Western Highway at Eleventh Road, Stone Street and Dickens Road.

Traffic signal installations at Eleventh Road and Stone Street have been unavoidably delayed, we appreciate your patience while we work through how the temporary intersection treatments will operate.

Temporary intersection management

Traffic analysis and road safety advice has been sought to determine how to manage the intersections under temporary traffic management conditions.

The intersections at Eleventh Road and Stone Street will operate under temporary traffic management as unsignalised T-intersections supported by temporary traffic signals that will operate, as needed, during peak periods. The temporary management is supported by interim line markings, signs, and additional lighting to delineate the lane alignments at each intersection to support traffic movements when the Byron Road crossing closes on 4 June.

Unfortunately, delaying the Byron Road crossing closures is not an option.

Under the temporary conditions, Main Roads will be monitoring the road environment to assess traffic flows and will operate the temporary traffic signals as needed i.e. due to excessive queuing.

We anticipate heavier congestion at the intersections during the temporary intersection management. We encourage road users to plan their journeys in advance, which may include travelling at non-peak times, trying a later work start time or working from home and / or allowing additional time to reach your destination.

We sincerely apologise for the inconvenience caused by the delay in the signal installation works.
