PROJECT UPDATE

August 2026

Swan River Crossings

Fremantle Traffic Bridge

New Bridge Set to Open by End of the Year

Construction work on the New Fremantle Traffic Bridge is ahead of schedule, with the new bridge on track to open in late 2026. This reflects the strong progress made across the project and recent milestones demonstrating sustained momentum on site.

The opening date will be confirmed in the coming months, with more information to be shared about the Heritage considerations and stories that have informed the bridge's urban design strategy and architectural lighting.

What's next?

Upcoming works required to complete the project include road surfacing activities, such as priming, sealing, and asphalt. The project will also reinstate the Canning Highway and Queen Victoria Street intersection, undertake drainage works and progress with landscaping and urban design activities on both sides of the crossing.
